Paul Baron is a hands-on Senior Sales, Marketing, Strategic Partnership and Business Development Executive with 3+ decades' experience designing and executing 'go to market strategies' for growing companies, high-performing sales teams and partners that have generated double-digit growth and over $1Billion in sales.

Paul is an articulate communicator with outstanding public speaking and presentation skills, leverages his active, diverse network of C-level influencers, has a working knowledge of a wide range of technology, business, sales, and marketing solutions and services. He is frequently called upon to guest lecture at UNCW, and regularly volunteers his time and experience to mentor startups, established businesses in the community, and student interns out of Wilmington incubator tekMountain and UNCW's Center for Innovation and Entrepreneurship (CIE.) Paul serves on the advisory boards at the CIE, UNCW School of Business and its Entrepreneurship programs, non-profit organizations, and privately held businesses in Wilmington, Atlanta, and NY.

Paul's experience with start-up, pre-IPO and Public Companies spans a wide range of industries in B2B, B2C, retail, manufacturing and distribution, telecom, mobile, international, and franchising. Equally comfortable in the bull-pen, R&D lab, or Executive office, Paul is 'industry agnostic', and can deliver hands-on direction or revenue support to implement and execute processes that will exceed goals in any industry, for any product, service, or technology. Paul has personally developed and launched concepts, and successfully exited several start-ups, including 2 restaurants in NY and FL, 2 sporting goods retail stores, a software development company delivering a communications software solution that was licensed and distributed by Samsung and AT&T, and an online community news and advertising publication serving over 500 cities nationwide. Paul also has successful turn-around, buy-side due diligence, and exit experience.

Paul lives in Wilmington with his wife Maureen, 2 Portuguese Water Dogs Walter & Victor, and is a competitive tennis player, sailor, and swimmer.
